Inside Information — In 2008, Milton and his family transitioned out of conventional church pastoring to help start a lay-training Bible college in Florida. This is where they started their first simple house church. In 2012, they moved to Tennessee to pursue a homeschooling family dream of carving an off-grid homestead with gardens, orchards, greenhouse, etc. Milton directs the Simple Church Global Network and loves re-empowering people, teaching them how to become effective missionaries in today's secular cultures. He and his family are Simple Church planters in Linden, TN, which is a small town with less than 1000 people within the city limits.
